

Landmarks OF NANTUCKET!

Oscar Andersen

My name is Christian Oscar Andersen. All my friends and family call me Oscar, after my great grandfather. I was born at the Nantucket Cottage Hospital on May 5, 1994. I am a fifth-generation Nantucketer. Things I like to do the most are fish, play sports, hang out with my friends, ride my four wheeler, sail in our Sunfish, ski, snowboard, snowmobile, and I love to watch television!

QUIDNET SUNRISE

Sunrise in Quidnet is what I wake up to almost every morning. As the sun rises, the clouds change color. As the sun rises, you can see the sunlight on the ocean as the waves wash upon the sandy shore.

GREAT POINT LIGHTHOUSE WITH BLUE SKIES

Great Point Lighthouse stands on the sandy beach on the northern most tip of Nantucket. The lighthouse has saved many ships from running aground. It is the only lighthouse on Nantucket that is open to the public for tours during the summer months.

TOWN CLOCK WITH GOLD

The Town Clock survived the Great Fire on Nantucket. You notice the Town Clock because it sits high on the hill on Orange Street. It can be visible from many island spots because of its location and the gold numbers and clock hands.

GRANDFATHER POINTING TO LARGE STUFFED LOBSTER

My grandfather, Ray B. Eger, is a third-generation Nantucketer and proud of it. There aren't many Nantucket natives like him left. He knows more about the island than anyone I know. He has great stories of growing up as a kid in the good old days! The large lobster he is pointing to was caught by my great grandfather, Oscar B. Eger.
