

Landmarks OF NANTUCKET!

Brianna Beaumont

My name is Brianna "Breezy" Beaumont and I am twelve years old. I was born on Nantucket and I have lived here all my life. I enjoy playing many sports, including basketball, lacrosse, and gymnastics. Throughout my school career, I have done well in school and for a few terms maintained a straight A average.. I am learning and benefiting from being one of many participants in the Landmarks Program of 2007.

HIDDEN POND

The First Bridge at Long Pond has many turtles, ducks, swans, crabs, and fish. People gather on the bridge to catch crabs, and some fish for herring.

BRANT POINT WALKWAY

Brant Point Light is a sign that welcomes newcomers to Nantucket. Many people are baptized, married, or take family photos along the walkway. Without Brant Point's light, mariners could be in danger of hitting the shore.

THE ENTRANCE TO THE WHALING MUSEUM

The Whaling Museum is an important part of Nantucket because it attracts a lot of tourists, which helps our economy. The flag is important to include. It shows the relationship of Nantucket to the mainland in the present day and in our past.

A RAINY DAY AT THE OLDEST HOUSE

The Oldest House has stood in its original location for 321 years. It has survived harsh weather, including a lightning strike in 1987, which was immediately followed by a rainbow that arched completely over the house.
