

LANDMARKS OF NANTUCKET!

Olivia FUNDERBURG

I am twelve years old and a seventh-grade honor student at Cyrus Peirce Middle School. I love figure skating. I have been skating for three years. I like hanging out with my friends, texting, reading, and art. I was born in Atlanta, Georgia. I moved to Nantucket when I was four and have lived here ever since. Nantucket is a great place to live because there are a lot of unique landmarks here, both historical and natural.

BY THE SEA

This picture tells a lot about Nantucket because there are grey houses and the sky is grey, since Nantucket is often called the Grey Lady. It shows houses by the ocean and that Nantucket is an island. I like how there are splashes of blue in the picture, such as the two blue doors.

THREE LIGHTSHIP BASKETS

Lightship baskets are handmade baskets crafted on Nantucket. These particular baskets are special to me because they are baskets I made in the youth weaving program at the Nantucket Lightship Basket Museum. Lightship baskets are unique to Nantucket. Each one is unique from any others.

DOWNTOWN DAFFODILS

This shows the old horse trough on Main Street. Now the trough is used for flowers or other plants which vary depending on the season. Since it is April, there are daffodils (along with other spring flowers) in the trough.

UNITARIAN CHURCH TOWER

This picture shows the tower of the Unitarian Church on Orange Street. Since you can see the tops of the trees near the church, you can tell that the church is quite tall. Something interesting about the Unitarian Church that some people may not know is that when you see the top of the church lit up at night, from a certain angle, it looks like an owl's face.
